

Geographies of Campus Inequality: Mapping the Diverse Experiences of First-Generation Students

American Heritage® Dictionary of the English Language, Fifth Edition. Copyright © 2016 by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company. Published by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company. All rights reserved.

4. An ordered arrangement of constituent elements: charting a geography of the mind.

2. The physical characteristics, especially the surface features, of an area.

1. The study of the earth and its features and of the distribution of life on the earth, including human life and the effects of human activity.

1. (Physical Geography) the study of the natural features of the earth's surface, including topography, climate, soil, vegetation, etc, and man's response to them

Random House Kernerman Webster's College Dictionary, © 2010 K Dictionaries Ltd. Copyright 2005, 1997, 1991 by Random House, Inc. All rights reserved.

the geography of the mind.

4. the arrangement of features of any complex entity: the geography of the mind.

3. a book dealing with geographical science or study, as a textbook.

2. the topographical features of a given region.

1. the science dealing with the areal differentiation of the earth's surface, as shown in the character, arrangement, and interrelations of such elements as climate, elevation, vegetation, population, and land use.

The American Heritage® Student Science Dictionary, Second Edition. Copyright © 2014 by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company. Published by Houghton Mifflin Harcourt Publishing Company. All rights reserved.

The scientific study of the Earth's surface and its various climates, countries, peoples, and natural resources.

Geography

equator; land; maps. See also earth the scientific study of man's geographical distribution and his relationship with his environment.

the complement of latitude; the difference between any given latitude and 90°.

1. a book of place names, sometimes with additional information, arranged alphabetically.

P

2. an index to an atlas.

1. the science that studies and describes the surface of the earth and its physical, biological, political, economic, and demographic characteristics and the complex interrelations among them.

2. the topographical features of a specific area.

3. a book on this subject. " geographer, n. " geographic, geographical, adj.

the study of the characteristics, origins, and development of land forms. " geomorphologist, n. " geomorphologic, geomorphological, adj.

1. the study or application of the effect of political or economic geography on the political structure, programs, or philosophy of a state.

2. a policy or policies based on such factors.

3. the complex of geographical and political factors affecting or determining the nature of a state or region.

4. the study of the relationship between geography and politics, applied especially to the study of the doctrines and actions of Nazi Germany in the context of world domination. " geopolitician, n. " geopolitical, adj.

the branch of geography that studies land areas above sea level to measure and map them. " hypsographic, hypsographical, adj.

the science or study of islands. " islandologist, n.

a rhumb line or curve on the surface of a sphere intersecting all meridians at the same angle; hence, the course of a ship or aircraft following a constant compass direction. " loxodromic, adj.

an instrument for determining longitude by observation of the stars.

1. a great circle that passes through the earth's poles and any other given point on the earth's surface.
2. half of such a circle.
3. any line of longitude running north and south on a map. See also meridian, meridional, adj. . a great circle that passes through the earth's poles and any other given point on the earth's surface.. half of such a circle.. any line of longitude running north and south on a map. See also astronomy . " the branch of physical geography that studies mountains and mountain systems. " orographic, orographical, adj.

the branch of geography that studies the features of the earth of past geologic times. " paleogeographer, palaeogeographer, n. " paleogeographic, palaeogeographic, paleogeographical, palaeogeographical, adj.

1. physical geography.
2. geomorphology. See also physiographer, n. " physiographic, physiographical, adj. . physical geography.. geomorphology. See also classification . "

a branch of physical geography that studies wet lands, as marshes or swamps.

the study of geographical variation and distribution of temperature. " thermogeographical, adj.

1. the art or technique of preparing charts or maps of a specified area.
2. the physical features of an area. " topographic, topographical, adj.

the study of the physical features of a specific place or area, usually accompanied by maps or charts showing relationships and elevations. " topologist, n. " topologic, topological, adj.

-Ologies & -Isms. Copyright 2008 The Gale Group, Inc. All rights reserved.

Reference

RH-NEGATIVE

Invariant Measurement: Using Rasch Models in the Social, Behavioral, and Health Sciences