UPMC WISER Simulation Center Courses

(Administration, Sim Tech Ops, Debriefing, Center Design & More) - Various Dates Throughout the Year

The Winter Institute for Simulation, Education, and Research (WISER) is a world class multidisciplinary training and research facility supporting education, training and patient safety initiatives at UPMC.. WISER is an institute of the University of Pittsburgh with a mission to conduct research and training programs utilizing simulation based education to provide a safer environment for patients of the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center and its affiliates. WISER offers several courses and programs to help those in the simulation community improve their skills. Their iSIM course is offered in various worldwide locations and have had preceptors from all over the world spend time watching and learning at WISER.

SimGHOSTS Hands-on Simulation Technology Conferences

Join hundreds of Simulation Champions from around the world at our annual international hands-on training events! The "Gathering of Healthcare Simulation Technology Specialists" which will be operating in its eighth year as a US-based non-profit 501(c)3 organization based out of Las Vegas, Nevada.

SimGHOSTS events provide a meeting place for you to exchange ideas and network with technical peers as well as receive specialized training in the design, selection and application of healthcare simulation technologies. You will also have opportunities to meet with simulation-based vendors to engage with the latest in healthcare education technology.

Society in Europe for Simulation Applied to Medicine (SESAM) Annual Conference

June 17-19 POSTPONED DUE TO CORONAVIRUS

Milan, Italy

SESAM's mission is to encourage and support the use of simulation in healthcare for the purpose of training and research. Join them in Milan, Italy from June 17-19 2020 for SESAM 2020. Discover the latest in healthcare simulation, network with colleagues and make new connections. Visit their industry partners at the exhibition area to find out about the latest advances in Simulation technology, be inspired by world-class speakers and stay ahead with cutting edge simulation research. They look forward to welcoming you to Milan for three days of invaluable learning and discovery!

International Nursing Association for Clinical Simulation and Learning (INACSL) Conference 2020

Converted to Virtual Event! More Info TBA: June 24-27, 2020

Raleigh, NC

Conference Location: Raleigh Convention Center

The INACSL Conference is a leading forum for simulation aficionados, researchers, and vendors providing the ideal environment to gain and disseminate current, state-of-the-art knowledge in the areas of skills/simulation operations and applications in an evidenced-based venue. Healthcare professionals will have the opportunity to network with colleagues and exhibitors, discuss best practices as relates to competencies, safety, and quality performance indicators, and advance the science of simulation.

UIC Professional Development and Certificate Programs for Standardized Patient Educators

One-Week Intensive Program: Standardized Patient Educator Certificate Program â€" October 26-30, 2020

Two-Day Workshops : Special Topics in Instruction & Assessment with SPs â€" May 4-5, 2020

Training SPs to Debrief and Give Feedback â€" September 2-3, 2020

Learn to create compelling standardized-patient based educational programs to enhance health professions education. Designed for simulation educators in the health professions: Directors and staff of simulation and standardized patient (SP) centers Faculty who wish to leverage SPs to enhance their educational programs Intensive sessions focusing on key topics in SP-based education Small class sizes, highly interactive, abundant hands-on practice Sessions are led by Rachel Yudkowsky, MD, MHPE, Bob Kiser, CEC, CHSE, and faculty and staff of the Simulation and Integrative Learning Institute (SAIL) of the University of Illinois at Chicago College of Medicine. Founded in 1987 as one of the first standardized patient centers and now a comprehensive multi-modal simulation center, SAIL, formerly the Dr. Allan L. and Mary L. Graham Clinical Performance Center (GCPC), is internationally recognized for innovation in standardized patient education.

CALSIM 2020 Inaugural Simulation Conference

POSTPONED until 2021 June 27-28 at Cedars Sinai in Los Angeles, CA

This engaging everything-you-need-to-know-about-simulation-based-training will provide participants with evidence-based presentations that explore how simulation can be an innovative tool for learning and training as well as for assessment of performance. Attendees will explore how simulation training can enhance technical and functional expertise, contribute to problem-solving and decision-making skills, and improve interpersonal and communication skills and team based competencies. Breakout sessions offer learners in-depth exploration of simulation design testing, human factors, and interprofessional education, as well as insights into the role simulation can have in infectious disease management and extracorporeal membrane oxygenation (ECMO). Join your colleagues for this 1-1/2 day adventure into the world of simulation and learn how evidence-based practices can be put into action through protocols and collaborative approaches that can then be practiced using simulation scenarios.

Human Patient Simulation Network (HPSN) Conferences

HPSN World 2020: More Info Coming Soon!

OB Care & Management Workshop: March 2-3 at Jacksonville University Healthcare

HPSN Regional SimDay Event: Fayetteville, Arkansas - April 7th POSTPONED

CAE's largest Human Patient Simulation Network conference is back! In 2020 they will be looking for you to join them around the world and in Orlando and share your passion for healthcare education through simulation. No matter your background, no matter your experience, HPSN World never fails to inspire. Choose from over 100 sessions on simulation-based learning and earn CEUs. Enjoy the stimulating keynote presentations and interactive special events. Select from a range of pre-conference training courses. Be the first to experience exciting new methodologies and technologies. Collaborate and connect with a truly global medical simulation community, and more!

iSIM Courses

(Various Dates Throughout 2020)

By UPMC WISER, UM GCRME, and UH SimTiki

These 3-day internationally renowned workshop programs, created in collaborative effort between WISER at the University of Pittsburgh and the Gordon Center for Research in Medical Education at the University of Miami, is designed as an introduction to fundamental skills and abilities for delivering simulation-based healthcare education through a variety of techniques and technologies. The program emphasizes hands-on activities and active participation to maximize simulation-based instruction skill acquisition. Class group sizes are kept small to allow for maximum participation. The primary audience for this course are healthcare educators wishing to improve their skills as instructors in simulation education.

International Society for Quality in Health Care

210.0015555556

CANCELLED August 30 - September 2nd, in Florence Italy (Returning 2021)

ISQua conferences provide a platform for like-minded peers to network, share their ideas and foster innovation all in the hope to improve and support safe health care worldwide ISQua's annual international conference is taking place from 30th August to 2nd September 2020. Join over 1,500 medical and health care professionals from over 80 countries for our quality in health care conference 2020. The theme of this year's conference is 'Emotion, Inspiration and Creativity: Pathways to Global Health Quality'. This year's health care convention will host over 180 expert presentations and provide ample opportunity for networking among the best and brightest in the international health care quality community.

SimONE SIM Expo

Toronto, Canada - October 19th - 20th

Join Canada's passionate, interprofessional healthcare simulation community and world-leading experts at the 2020 SIM Expo! SIM Expo continues to be the largest interprofessional and multidisciplinary simulation conference in Canada and they are excited to bring it to Toronto for 2020! Each year, the SIM Expo brings together healthcare leaders in university, college, hospital, emergency services, and community care sectors. Their participants are deans, administrators, educators, clinicians, SIM centre managers and directors, and researchers from all health professions. Most participants are Canadian but it is an open conference and each year they are honored to host some international participants.

New Zealand Association for Simulation in Healthcare 2020 Conference

CANCELLED November 6-7 in Manawa, Christchurch

On behalf of the Canterbury Collaborative Simulation Interest Group (CCSIG), it is with great excitement and pleasure that we invite you to join us for the New Zealand Association for Simulation in Healthcare (NZASH) Conference 2020. The conference theme this year is 'Connect and Collaborate'. Although we use simulation to develop better teamwork strategies, are we really connecting with everyone to ensure a positive journey for our patients? When times get tough the Midwife need the Paramedics and Medical staff, the Emergency team need the input from Paediatricians, ICU and Allied Health staff. In 2020, NZASH would like to challenge you to invite and work with a department/speciality you have not considered as part of your team, you will be amazed how much you learn. The programme has been designed with Connection and Collaboration at its centre with workshops, presentations and simulations being designed, delivered and debriefed by a variety of different professions. Demonstrating that simulation whatever the scenario can reach many specialities.

Association for Simulated Practice in Healthcare (ASPiH UK) Annual Conference

November 9th - 11th in Birmingham, England

ASPiH is a not-for-profit membership Association comprising of members drawn from healthcare, education and patient safety backgrounds including researchers, learning technologists, workforce development or education managers, administrators, and healthcare staff and students. All have a genuine interest in new and innovative methods of learning, as well as optimizing the use of existing simulation resources within their practice. Their membership bridges undergraduate and pre- registration education as well as postgraduate and post registration training and on-going CPD for all of the health and social care workforce. This annual event is the premiere UK-based event for all things clinical simulation!

International Pediatric Society for Simulation (IPSS) Symposium

POSTPONED to October 23-26, 2020 April 26-29 in St. Petersburg, Florida

Renowned global experts will gather for the world's largest meeting dedicated exclusively to pediatric and perinatal simulation. Over three days, attendees will discuss the role simulation plays to provide safe and effective care to sick children and infants, and the continued evolution and expansion of pediatric simulation across the globe. Experience hands-on and immersive simulations at one of the country's leading centers during pre-conference and afternoon workshops. Learn from the experts and see the highest quality simulators in the market. Learn the latest advancements in pediatric and neonatal simulation. Expand your horizons through the large variety of education sessions in various tracks offered at IPSSW2020. Connect with industry professionals from all over the globe and see the products, services and the latest technology in pediatric simulation!

IPSS Virtual Meeting: Tuesday, April 28 2:00 pm - 3:30 pm EDT

Leaders in pediatric simulation will discuss using simulation as a tool for discovering new processes and procedures during a pandemic. Panelists:

Tensing Maa, MD | Nationwide Children's Hospital

Jennifer Reid, MD | Seattle Children's

Stephanie Sudikoff, MD | Yale New Haven Hospital
