

: intervention allowed in federal civil procedure when a statute grants an absolute right to intervene or when the applicant claims an interest in the subject of the proceeding that the applicant may be impeded from protecting by the disposition of the proceeding

Note: Intervention of right will not be granted if the court considers that the applicant's interest is already adequately represented.

Reference

Standard Setting: A Guide to Establishing and Evaluating Performance Standards on Tests

Fast Facts About the Nursing Profession: Historical Perspectives in a Nutshell