

Community-Based Participatory Research

a social group of any size whose members reside in a specific locality, share government, and often have a common cultural and historical heritage.

a locality inhabited by such a group.

a social, religious, occupational, or other group sharing common characteristics or interests and perceived or perceiving itself as distinct in some respect from the larger society within which it exists: the business community; the community of scholars; diversity within a college community; London's Jewish and Muslim communities.

a group of associated nations sharing common interests or a common heritage: the community of Western Europe.

Ecclesiastical . a group of men or women leading a common life according to a rule.

Reference

Research Methods in Health Promotion

Principles of Clinical Cancer Research