

The Body Keeps the Score: Brain, Mind, and Body in the Healing of Trauma

You may be wondering how our microphone test works. It's quite simple. First, when you arrive to our site, you are requested to grant access to your microphone so that we can check it. Then our site checks whether a microphone is connected and can be detected, followed by a sound and volume check. If all is well, you will see that your microphone is working. If not, you will receive an error message telling you what happened.
